Collecting Awards & Accessing Social Justice

scosa are delighted that Debbie Radogna will pick up a St Vinnies Social Justice Award this tonight. Debbie has been nominated for her work as the scosa Client Consultative Committee Chair (CCC).

I feel extremely proud, honoured and surprised to receive this award. I was a member of CCC before being appointed chairperson 12 months ago where I feel greatly supported in my role. I took on this role to ensure all the clients of scosa have a voice. I have gained lots of new skills and as such, am able to converse with people from different backgrounds with confidence.+

The CCC committee work to ensure people with disabilities are recognized in the community. One of the CCC recent achievements was working with Transport SA to successfully extend the crossing time at two intersections in Adelaide, allowing people to safely cross the road.

Debbie will arrive in style and on time with a range of local business generously donating their resources. Adelaide Access Taxis will transport Debbie to all her appointments leading up to the ceremony. She will have a day of pampering with South 21 Salon creating a beautiful hairdo and City Cross Better Health will be giving Debbie a beauty makeover.

Thanks to these businesses, Debbie will have a day to remember leading up to the presentation of her award on Wednesday 1st September at the St Vinnies Award Nazareth College at Flinders Park.

Mum Barbara, is delighted for her daughter and is coming along for the ride, also courtesy of Adelaide Access Cabs. Already a star, Debbie recently featured in the scosa DVD which took out the Australian Marketing Institute Award for Excellence in Internal Marketing.

I never realized how complex it could be getting transport and timing pick-ups and collection times+said Gabrielle Overton, scosa GM Marketing and Business Development, Thanks to Adelaide Access Taxis, who came to the party, the entire day had been scheduled down to the last minute with little fuss and this means Debbie and her Mum will have some special time together on this very memorable day.
